

Our Weather

Following Monday night's snowfall the Grayling area has measured a snow fall this winter of 99 inches, according to measurements made by George Schiabe at Camp Grayling. During November 28 inches of snow fell on the measuring device at the Camp and December brought 23 inches more of the white, fluffy stuff. January's measurement showed a 34 inch fall and so far this month 14 inches have been recorded, making the total 99 inches thus far this winter.

Bowling League

Men's Division

Standings were not issued this week by League Secretary Al Cherven due to the inability of the last Tuesday night's teams to bowl. A day long failure of the heating system at the alleys caused the cancellation of the scheduled Tuesday night's matches. Standings which showed a week extra for the teams bowled Monday night while the Tuesday night teams were a week behind would have only caused confusion, Secretary Cherven said, in reporting that by next week everything would again be back on an even keel.

Kids Day At Park Saturday

The officers of the Grayling Winter Sports, incorporated have set aside Saturday, February 17 as "Grayling Kids Day" at the winter sports park.

The admission charge at the entrance gate will be eliminated from noon to 5 P. M. for all Grayling children and the price of toboggan rides will be slashed right in the middle to 5c per slide.

School buses will leave from in front of the Grayling High School at noon on Saturday to transport school children to the park. It is understood that the Grayling Student Council is arranging for skiing and skating events, races, etc.

which will go down in history as among the best that Grayling has ever afforded the winter sports fan. Even better, old man weather played right along with the Carnival officials, bringing quite warm winter weather for Sunday but not too warm to ruin winter sports of any type. In fact, the toboggan slides were the fastest on Sunday that they have been this season.

MacDonald was introduced by Robert J. Furlong, administrative secretary of Michigan Tourist Council. He complimented the sports park officials for the resurgence of the play area this year as he recalled that the park was Michigan's first winter sports area. Earlier Furlong had introduced the 12 girls who composed the court of the new queen.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeWitt announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Beverly DeWitt to Vernon Sheppard of Pontiac, Michigan.

R. L. D. S. Church News

The Up and Atom Circle of the R. L. D. S. Church held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Ashton, February 8th. After the meeting the Grayling section served coffee, rolls and cookies. Of course this time the car was handy for any donation for their project. And "by the way" their project just now is a "Galloping Tea" so if you see some ladies "galloping your way just put the coffee or tea pot on the stove," they are apt to gallop in on any of their friends or neighbors any time and will have as many as they have gathered along the way with them, and of course that inevitable tin can with them.

The group having been divided into three sections for a period of three months for a money raising campaign each group is out to make all they can. Everyone is working hard to be the one group to turn in the most money at the end of that period as the group that turns in the least will have to entertain the other two groups. The "down river" group have had one bake sale so far, and of course, the Frederic group are way up front after the big dinner they served. No one knows just how much the others have, because each individual has her own project, such as knitting, crocheting, a baking or sewing, that she is doing on the side.

The next meeting will begin with a noon luncheon at the home of Mrs. Norval Stepan, February 22nd, with regular business and study to follow in the afternoon.

Archery Company Host To Woman's Club

The Bear Archery Company was host to members of the Woman's Club and their husbands on Monday evening, February 12.

Charles D. Piper, secretary and treasurer of the company presented a brief history of the organization. Among the interesting facts mentioned, especially to Grayling, was that the company during 1950 had grossed over 1/4 million dollar sales, the largest share of this amount coming from outside Grayling and that $120,000 was expended on the payroll, predominantly to local employees.

Fred Bear then showed a color movie on moose and bear hunting on a recent trip to the Canadian wilds.

A tour was conducted through the plant where the ladies learned how the famous Bear bows and arrows are made. There are many ingenious methods of construction and devices of testing found only in this bow and arrow plant. The very informative evening was drawn to a close by Mrs. Bear had prepared an attractive table of refreshments. The club wishes to thank both Mr. and Mrs. Bear and Mr. Piper for their gracious hospitality.

Vikings Lose To Gaylord; But Defeat Lake City Five

Face Houghton Lake Here Friday Night

During the past week Grayling won one and lost one with the win coming in the North Central Class C Conference as they stopped Lake City here last Friday night and then lost to Gaylord there Tuesday night in a non-conference fray. The Vikings will meet the Houghton Lake team in a loop battle on the local court Friday night of this week.

Gaylord took a 14 to 9 lead at the end of the first period over the Vikings there Tuesday night but Grayling came back with a baffling offensive game to storm into a 25 to 24 lead by halftime. At the end of the third period Gaylord had worked back to a one point lead 39 to 38 and with a tied up ball game but minutes to go till the final whistle Gaylord clicked on a field goal and was awarded a free throw which was also cashed in on. Taking the three point lead the Blue Devils went into a stall and Grayling trying desperately to get possession of the ball left the way open for a final Gaylord basket as the Blue Devils won 48 to 33.

Scheur and Hopkins with 16 points each led the Blue Devils to victory while Jim Burch with 12 and Duane Worden with 11 points led the Vikings. Jim McClain and Peeewe Laurent each added 7 points with Ellery Horning getting 4 and Bill Worden 2.

Gaylord clicked on 10 out of 17 foul shots while making 19 field goals, Grayling shot for 20 field goals, but made only 3 out of 9 free throws.

The Grayling reserves after taking a short end of the 7 to 4 first period score, battled back to trail by one point 14 to 13 by halftime. At the end of the third period Grayling was in the lead and seemed to have complete control of the game as they took a 22 to 18 lead. A Gaylord last minute surge, however, broke up the victory hopes of the little Vikings as Graylord triumphed 32 to 31.

Krowski with 12 points led the victors while Delbert Joslyn with 12 led the Grayling team. David Owen added 4, Allan Luckstead 5, Marvin Bielski 4 and John Niederer 1.

The Vikings posted their second conference win of the season when they defeated the Lake City team here last Friday night 59 to 52. With the first period ending in a 14 point stalemate the Vikings went on to take a 34 to 26 lead at halftime. By the end of the third period, the Lake City team had come back to trail by only 45 to 42 but the Vikings poured in 14 points in the final heat to the Lakers 10 to win going away.

Jim McClain with 22 points led the victorious Vikings with Jim Burch adding 14, Duane Worden 13, Bill Worden 5 and Peeewe Laurent 4. Bill Worden starting his first varsity game at center played a good steady ball game and should help the Vikings to play more consistent ball for the remainder of the season. Weersing, rangy Lake City pivot man with 32 points led the invaders. Duane Sloan and Ellery Horning, both also saw some action for Grayling with Horning getting a foul shot

A wedding dinner was given by the bride's parents at Jerrie's Ranch following the ceremony.

The Public and "Big Business"

The Psychological Corporation, which is directed by Dr. Henry C. Link, reported recently that three-quarters of the people do not share the government's fear of large business concerns, and do not approve of the actions of the government in trying to break up large companies such as the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company into smaller units. Instead, they believe that large companies should be encouraged or let alone.

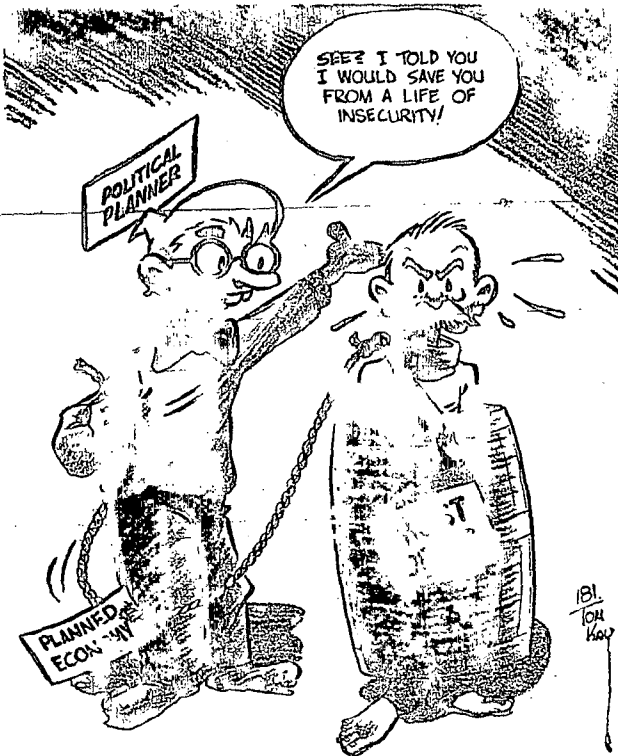

This was the result of two surveys totaling 7,500 personal interviews made in 124 cities and towns from coast to coast. Those queried were asked if large and powerful companies should be encouraged, should be let alone, should be watched, or should be broken up on the grounds that they were dangerous.

Practically all income and educational groups gave the same answers. And here, percentage-wise, is the public's opinion: 48 per cent said the companies should be encouraged; 25 per cent said they should be let alone; 11 per cent said they should be watched; 2 per cent said they were dangerous and should be broken up; 14 per cent were uncertain. As an interesting sidelight, there was no difference between the answers given by union and non-union families. Both overwhelmingly believed that large companies should be encouraged or let alone.

In summing up these findings, the Psychological Corporation observes, "At a time when America needs all the production and power it can marshal, the contributions which big companies can make are probably more welcome than ever before." The American people, who realize that there is room and a need in this country for businesses of every size and kind, are far ahead of their government in this regard.

Hearing Clinic Results Revealed

The hearing conservation program which has been running in the Crawford County schools as a joint effort of the schools, the Michigan Department of Health and the District Health Department has brought out the following facts.

There were a total of 578 children originally tested by the mass audiometer. Of these there were 19 re-checked by the Pure Tone audiometer of which 6 were found to have handicapping hearing defects. These children will be checked by an ear specialist in the near future in an effort to take steps to stop further hearing losses in these children and to improve their present condition.

WHICH ACP PRACTICES?

What is the most serious soil erosion and depletion problem on the farm? The answer to this question should be the best guide in selecting conservation practices to be carried out in 1951, says Mr. Hummel, chairman of the Crawford — Otsego county PMA committee.

The chairman explains that the Agricultural Conservation Program for Crawford county provides for sharing the cost on a number of practices which are adapted to various conditions in the county. He emphasizes that the practices which may be most effective in correcting the most serious problem on one farm may not be what is needed even on a neighboring farm. For this reason he urges a careful selection of practices by farmers.

To illustrate the point, he points out that lime may be needed on a farm but before the best results can be obtained from the lime the land may need terracing. Even before terraces are constructed there may be need for establishing a grass runway for disposing of the excess water resulting from the terraces.

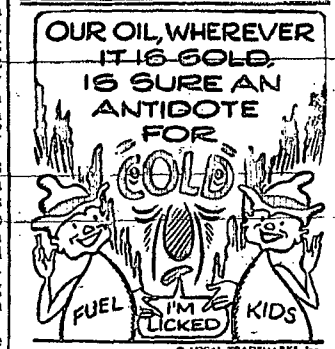

A piece of land may need to be seeded to grass and legumes, but before a good stand of grass and legumes can be obtained, the land may need both lime and phosphate.

Mr. Hummel said that the county and community committees will do all they can to assist farmers in selecting the practices to meet their most serious conservation problem. But, he points out, best results usually are obtained when the farmer studies his conservation needs and selects those practices which are most needed and carries them out in the proper order.

THE TRUTH ABOUT HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physicians declare that a genuine blood pressure phobia exists, and the time has come to revise blood pressure standards. In The American Weekly, with this Sunday's (February 18) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, read how, in a recent survey, blood pressures considered above normal were more frequent than so-called normal readings.

Following a series of visits to Washington by Governor Williams and his executive secretary, Larry Farrell, a State Defense Production Council has been formed. In theory it will do for production what the Defense Council does for defense preparation.

Actually this new organization is designed to help channel defense contracts into Michigan, to keep everyone working during conversion — and to take care of the little industry. It's too young to predict its success.

But Williams' attempt to bring production to Michigan has gained a bit of attention in Washington. Observers there feel he is taking a bold (and commendable) step in overtly campaigning for national business.

This doesn't mean he is looked upon with any more favor so far as the vice presidency is concerned. Our national politicians still look upon Williams' campaigning as "juvenile and childish". But they also look right in the teeth of his reelection — with a Republican cabinet.

Michigan's deer herds have been fortunate this year. While the annual kill is expected to be up this year because of deep snow (and the subsequent loss of forage), periodical snows have kept the toll below the danger point. In 1947-48 more than 100,000 of the animals starved.

Michigan produced minerals valued at $207,608,000 in 1949 — second highest production year recorded. It was three percent less than the 1948 all-time high. Iron and copper accounted for more than 31 percent of the production valuation.

Newspapers all over the state have been shocked recently by series of juvenile crimes. It is popularly thought that during periods of war and stress this type of crime increases. But what can be done to prevent such outbreaks? The pendulum now is on the upswing.

Michigan budget parers, looking frantically about, have seized on one bone on which they can chew — the state colleges. Michigan State College and the University of Michigan have asked a total of $18,000,000. Conservative estimates figure at least $3,000,000 will be lopped off.

But the U. of M. will get its new medical center and possibly M. S. C. will be given a library since that money comes under capital outlay and not the general appropriation.

With defense orders tightening the automobile market, officials are predicting car shortages in six months. That is, of course, if the present trend toward defense production continues.

Michigan's 114 bureaus, long the target for pungent remarks, have been referred to lately as the "boards, bureaus and complications".

The State Department of Labor has listed the increase in living costs at 3.7 per cent while the National Conference Board places the figure at 4.4 percent. They agree that the trend is up.

State defense questions may be answered this month. Brig. Gen. Lester C. Maitland state civil defense director, has called a Feb. 19 conference in Lansing of all local defense directors. He has asked the atomic energy commission and federal civil defense authorities to send teams of experts to answer queries.

No matter how remote your home community in Michigan, a bombing attack at any place in the State is likely to seriously affect your way of life. That fact became evident last Saturday when Gen. Lester C. Maitland, Michigan Civil Defense director, met with about two score Civil Defense directors in the metropolitan area for an emergency feeding demonstration.

The demonstration followed the stockpiling of some 2,000,000 paper cups and containers for disaster use only by the Paper Cup & Container Institute. The paper service is being stockpiled without cost to the State by 16 paper manufacturing companies in the Institute.

Use of paper service is essential, of course, when bombs knock out water and gas supplies for dishwashing, hospitals, restaurants, and hotels are left helpless in such emergencies after their dishes have been used once.

What's its Power?

FIREBALL!
(Only Buick can make this statement)

BEND an ear to the deep baritone song of this marvel motor, and you'll know we aren't fooling when we call it Fireball.

What happens beneath that brawny Buick bonnet happens in no other car in the world.

Years ahead of the rush to high-compression valve-in-head engines, Buick was in there pitching for more power from every drop of fuel.

The result: a spectacular engineering phenomenon you feel the instant you touch toe to gas treadle. A rapid-fire sequence of tiny tornados, let loose their pent-up power every five inches a Buick travels.

If you could look inside that Fireball engine, you'd see why. Instead of the flat-topped pistons used in other cars, Buick uses a turbo-top piston, like this:

So the inrushing fuel whirlwinds into a compressed ball that adds a super-urge to the downstroke of the piston.

And you get the thrill — and thrift — of this Buick "first" in every mile you drive.

More, you get a tried-and-true engine that's been polished and perfected in every detail up through the years.

Again and again, compression ratios have been stepped up to keep pace with advances in fuels. Self-setting valve lifters contribute to silence. Micropoise balance and Hi-Poised engine mountings add two more Buick exclusives.

And the silken might of this Fireball's power has been made more beautifully obedient by still another "first"—Dynaflo Drive.*

So we list as a prime reason why "smart buy's Buick" this Fireball power plant—and a host of happy owners will say "Amen."

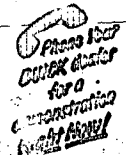

Better see your dealer soon.

COLD PEACE IN A COLD WAR AREA . . . This angel of peace driving a four-horse chariot is a big attraction in Stuttgart, Germany. It is carved from packed snow, and it is the work of sculptor Hans Edelbauer who used six truckloads of snow to do the job. It took him four days. The burghers of Stuttgart hope it will be a good omen for 1951. The citizens hope that it won't melt away with the first warm days, as the new peace hopes have faded.

has been an active member of the post committee for the past 12 years, during which time he has ordered and set 23 headstones, placed 112 grave markers and each year supervises placing flags and a plant on each of the above. A veteran of WW I, he served in Batt. F 119th FA. 32nd Div.

Basil Becomes a Man

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

BASIL Winthrop's father had always made his decisions; had conducted the boy's affairs, organized his life, superintended his doings. Basil was an only child. His mother was dead, and because he had inherited his mother's mildness of manner, and because his father was a dominating type, Basil, following the line of least resistance, had allowed those things to happen. His father was wealthy and generous, so why not let the old man run the show? Basil thought.

He ceased to think thus when he met the girl with the red hair and blue eyes. She was selling kisses at a charity bazaar. Five dollars a kiss. Basil only had $30 in his pocket, but he stretched out the six kisses that amount would buy to that other customers got tired of waiting.

After the bazaar, he drove the girl with the red hair to the hotel where she was staying. He didn't ask her name; she didn't volunteer it. But they made a date for the next night.

As he entered the front hall his father called to him. Basil hesitated, then squared his shoulders and went toward the voice.

Winthrop, senior, seemed in a good mood. "I've just met an old friend of mine, son, Sarah Mortimer. She and her daughter, Elaine, are spending a few days in town. Son, I want you to meet them. Nothing would please me more than to see you and Sarah's daughter married."

Basil stared. This, he thought was the payoff. His father had arranged everything else in his life, but by golly he wasn't going to pick his wife!

"Dad, you're taking too much for granted. I can't marry Elaine. I'm in love with someone else."

"Someone else? Who?"

"I—er—don't know her name."

"I see." Winthrop, senior, rose and patted his son on the arm.

"I've arranged a dinner party for tomorrow. You'll meet Elaine then."

BUT BASIL didn't meet Elaine then. For the first time in his life he felt the electrifying qualities of manhood warming his blood.

Instead of attending the dinner party, he held a clandestine meeting with the redhead. They had a swell time together. By mutual and silent agreement they decided not to confide to each other their identity.

Afterward, Basil had some regrets. His father was a powerful influence. He could make things decidedly uncomfortable. And the red-headed girl who, apparently, had been used to nice things, might not be so interested in him if she knew he was penniless.

Winthrop, senior, arranged another meeting with Sarah Mortimer and daughter. It was, he decided, to be the test. If Basil refused to follow his wishes this time—well, he'd have to get under way in taking his drastic steps.

When Basil heard about the arranged meeting he came to a decision. He would meet this Elaine and tell her in front of his father that he loved another. Then he would keep an appointment with the red-headed girl and propose marriage. That, he decided, was the only manly thing to do, and Basil had suddenly become a man.

So with his father Basil went to the hotel where the meeting had been arranged. Mrs. Mortimer and Elaine received them in their suite of rooms. Basil took one look at Elaine and almost collapsed.

She had red hair and freckles and back teeth. She was about the homeliest looking creature Basil had ever seen. Moreover, she giggled.

Basil didn't wait for the dinner to get under way. He made his speech then and there, then headed for the door. His father accompanied him into the corridor.

"Son," said the old man, "forgive me. I didn't know what I was getting you into. Go marry your redhead. She couldn't be any worse than that."

"Thanks, Dad," said Basil. And he went off and kept his date with the red-head, whose name, it proved, was Mary Smith. He proposed and she accepted and they lived happily ever after.
